

Traffic congestion is a persistent problem in Columbia, SC that causes delays, more fuel consumption, and that causes higher pollution levels. The flow of traffic is inefficient and I feel it could be improved significantly by the use of some modern-day technological advancements.